

Homesteaders of America Conference Tickets Giveaway!

Summer is here and fall normally follows. I am looking forward to fall even more than usual because the Homesteaders of America Conference is this October! This is a new event in the homesteading themed arena. The organizers have been working tirelessly to make this a premier event. For the full list of information and event schedules you can check the website. A brief overview of the event follows. Before you know it, the day will arrive. I thought it would be fun to give away a family pack of tickets.

It is the perfect time to giveaway tickets to the Homesteaders of America Conference! We are having all sorts of summer fun but soon the fall will arrive and schedules will fill up. I want to make sure you have this event on your calendar. Other areas of the country have fabulous country living events. And now we have a premier event, right here in our backyard!

What is Homesteaders of America Conference?

I will be one of the demonstrators at the full day event this October 14 in Northern VA. My booth and demonstration will cover simple natural dyes that you can make from common plants. Lots of other homesteading and DIY theme subjects will be covered at the event and the key note speakers are very popular and in much demand.

I can't wait to hear Joel Salatin speak as I have enjoyed so many of his books on farming and this lifestyle. In addition, Lisa Steele will speak on chicken care. She always does a great job with her presentations. Her latest book is here. And if you are an off grid lifestyle person or hope to be, don't miss Doug and Stacy from the popular you tube channel – Off Grid with Doug and Stacy . Esther Emery will share her family's journey from the hectic theater and city living life to an off grid cabin in the wilderness! I love her recent book, What Falls From the Sky. She has a unique perspective as she is the daughter of Carla Emery, author of the Country Living Encyclopedia.

Combine the speakers with demonstrations by many of your favorite bloggers, and vendors sharing the best new products for a healthy lifestyle and you have the makings of a wonderful event!

Homesteaders of America Conference is a new event for our area. It is already attracting big names in the self sufficient, homestead, and off grid industry. Prepare to have a really fun day while learning and meeting other like minded folks.

the Giveaway for free tickets has ended. Please check the website for updates and please consider attending the conference!

How do you enter to win the pack of tickets to the Homesteaders of America Conference?

- 1. Make sure you are able to attend the event. Check a map, google the location, look at driving distance, so that the tickets don't become wasted.

2. Put the event on your calendar!

3. Leave a comment below, briefly telling me why you would love to attend this event.

And not mandatory, but if you win, please stop by my booth, Free Range Yarn and say hi. I love putting faces and personalities with names I see often.

Offer Ends Friday July 21, 2017.

Winner will be announced from random selection of entrants, on Saturday July 22, 2017 by email to the winner. Please make sure you leave a valid email address. I won't keep trying. If you don't respond in two days, I will contact the next winner.

That's it! Pretty simple and I hope to see lots of you at the Homesteaders of America Conference on October 14, 2017.
Warrenton, Virginia